Compliment vs complement

SPAG

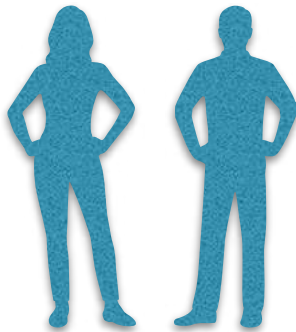

A compliment is when you say something nice.
Think 'I like compliments'.

A complement completes something, or adds to it in a way that makes it better. Think 'E for extras'.

Fashion

What does fashion mean to you? How does it impact your life?

FASHION

SPAG

Big Ears Aren't Usually beautiful can help you remember it starts BEAU...

Right & Wrong

Some good questions to ask yourself if you're not sure if something is right or wrong:

- What does my conscience say about it?
- Could it hurt anyone—including me?
- Is it fair?
- How would I feel if somebody did it to me?
- Have I ever been told that it's wrong?
- Deep down how do I feel about it?
- How will I feel about myself later if I do it?
- What would people I respect say about it?
- If you still can't decide, talk it over with someone you trust and respect.

I.e. vs E.g.

SPAG

I.e. means “in other words”.

It comes from the Latin words “id est”.

E.g. means “for example”.

It comes from the Latin words “exempli gratia”.

Voting

Give as many examples as you can of things you might be able to vote on at some point in your life:

Opportunity

SPAG

Op - port - unity.

Boats need regular op-port-unities to stop at port!

A time or set of circumstances that makes it possible to do something.

Prejudice

Prejudice: an unfair and unreasonable opinion or feeling, especially when formed without enough thought or knowledge.

If you have a negative attitude towards someone based on race or ethnicity rather than personal experience, you might be accused of prejudice.

What examples can you give of types of prejudice?

Literacy:

Stationary vs Stationery SPAG

Stationary = not moving, staying still. Think 'nar' like 'car'.

Stationery = paper, pens, pencils etc. Think 'ner' like 'nerd'.

Truth

10 SIGNS SOMEONE IS LYING TO YOU

They change their head position quickly.

If you see someone suddenly jerk their head when you ask them a direct question, they may be lying to you about something.

Their breathing changes.

When someone is nervous and lying to you, they may begin to breathe more heavily. Their shoulders rise and their voice gets shallow.

They stand very still.

Relaxed, unconscious movements come naturally in normal conversation, so a rigid stance should be a major red flag.

They repeat words or phrases.

This happens because they're trying to convince you, and themselves, of something. Repetition is also a way to buy time as they gather their thoughts.

They touch or cover their mouth.

People unconsciously cover their mouths when they want to avoid answering a question — both literally and figuratively halting conversation.

They instinctively cover vulnerable body parts.

You've likely hit a nerve if someone's hand moves to cover parts of their throat, chest, neck, head, or abdomen.

They tend to point a lot.

Liars become defensive when they think you discovered their lie, which may result in a lot of pointing.

They provide too much information.

An excess of details is often a sign of lying. Liars hope that talking a lot will be perceived as openness and truthfulness.

It becomes difficult for them to speak.

Our mouths get dry when we're stressed and lying. Other signs to watch for include sudden lip biting or pursed lips.

They stare at you without blinking much.

When people lie, it's common for them to break eye contact, but the liar could go the extra mile to maintain eye contact in an attempt to control and manipulate you.

Loose vs Lose

SPAG

Loose is an adjective - it means 'not tight'.

Lose is a verb - it means 'to be unable to find'.

Is it loose or lose?

Is it related to 'lost'? If it's to do with having lost something, you spell it with one 'o', just like lost.

If you are describing something as loose, like a loose tooth, or loose trousers, or having a loose screw, you use two.

Self Confidence

Write a list of (at least) 10 things you like about yourself.

If you're struggling, swap with a friend, and each write for the other!

Creativity

Be creative!

You could write a poem, song lyrics or a story, or even create a new language. Draw a picture, design an outfit, sketch an invention....

It's up to you!

Literacy:

Numeracy:

They're, there and their

SPAG

There has the word here in it. Here and there = places.

They're is short for they are. The apostrophe replaces a missing letter or two when we squish words together.

(It's called a contraction.) If you can replace they're with they are in your sentence, you're spelling it right!

Is it theirs or ours? Try replacing their with our to see if it still makes sense.

Try swapping in:

Here >> there

they are >> they're

Our >> their

Refugees

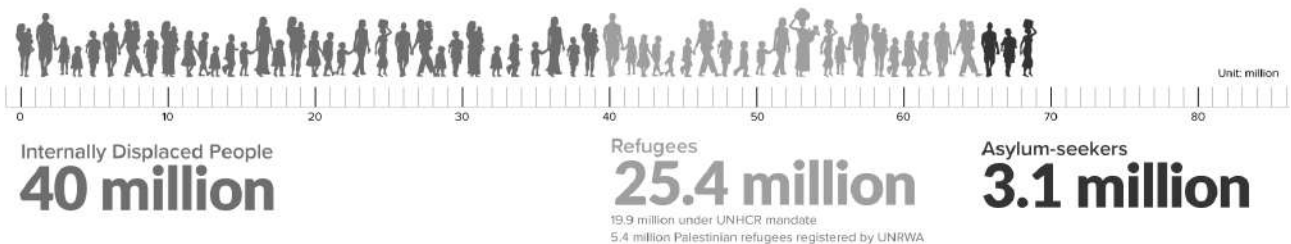

A refugee is someone who has been forced to flee his or her country because of persecution, war or violence.

A refugee has a well-founded fear of persecution for reasons of race, religion, nationality, political opinion or membership in a particular social group. Most likely, they cannot return home or are afraid to do so.

War and ethnic, tribal and religious violence are leading causes of refugees fleeing their countries.

Two-thirds of all refugees worldwide come from just five countries: Syria, Afghanistan, South Sudan, Myanmar and Somalia.

68.5 million forcibly displaced people worldwide

SPAG

Beginning has two n's and two g's

Spelling tip: You begin to spell beginning by beginning with begin!

Conflict

Tips for dealing with conflict:

- Conflict is a reality. There is no escaping the fact. Hiding won't solve anything.
- You can't wish the problem away. Keeping your feelings bottled up inside won't work.
- Learn to deal with the problem, not the person. Conflict occurs because of a particular issue, not because of a person. Don't make it personal.
- Be respectful. Listen to the other person.
- Be assertive. Being assertive means putting your views forward confidently and calmly.
- Learn to negotiate. This is the most important skill you need to learn. Negotiating is a skill that will serve you in the long term.
- Stick to the present. Don't drag in past issues. Doing so will only make things worse.
- The silent treatment does not work. Talk it out.
- Be understanding. Try to put yourself in the other person's shoes. Don't get defensive and look at the whole situation.
- Learn to say sorry. It helps!

Literally, or figuratively? SPAG

Figuratively means metaphorically, and literally describes something that actually happened. If you say that a guitar solo literally blew your head off, your head should not be attached to your body...

Traditions

What different types of traditions can you think of? Can you give examples?
E.g. Family traditions, religious traditions, school traditions....

Skin Colour

Think about the people you interact with regularly. People you are friends with, or talk to often.

How many of them look like you?

How many have a skin colour different to yours?

How would you rate the diversity of people in your life?

Not at all diverse

Very diverse

Take a moment to think about your own personal biases. (We all have them!). Do you notice when you have a biased thought about someone because of their skin colour? How do you handle it?
